DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 22-34, drawn to a method of producing a classification scheme for AML comprising using K-means clustering, hierarchical clustering, and Pearson correlation coefficient analysis.

Group II, claim(s) 35, drawn to a method for prognosis of an AML affected subject using Affymetrix gene chips.

Group III, claim(s) 36, drawn to a classification scheme for AML comprising a plurality of distinct AML classes that are differentiated on the basis of similarity.

Group IV, claim(s) 37-43, drawn to a method of detecting an AML-associated transcript in a cell from a patient.

Group V, claim(s) 44-46, drawn to oligonucleotide probes capable of hybridizing under stringent conditions. If this Group is elected, then the below species election is required.

Art Unit: 1631

Group VI, claim(s) 47-48, drawn to an oligonucleotide microarray and kit containing this microarray wherein this microarray comprises oligonucleotide probes from Tables 1, 2, and 3.

The inventions listed as Groups I through VI do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Group III is the technical feature that links Groups I through VI. Group III is not a contribution over the prior art. Specifically, the reference of Golub et al. [Science, volume 286, 1999, pages 531-537] teaches the special technical features of Group III. Figure 1 on page 532 of Golub et al. teaches a classification scheme with the plurality of distinct AML classes based on whether patients test positive for AML, positive for ALL, or not diseased with AML or ALL. Figure 1 of Golub et al. teaches clustering, but not all of the types of clustering in the instant set of claims (i.e. claim 1).

Therefore, the lack of unity is present because the linking technical feature is not a “special technical feature” as defined by PCT Rule 13.2.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species A: the AML-associated genes are selected from Table 1

Species B: the AML-associated genes are selected from Table 2

Species C: the AML-associated genes are selected from Table 3

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species A: claim 44

Species B: claim 45

Species C: claim 46

The following claim(s) are generic: claims 22-43 and 47-48.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the sequences in each of the Tables comprise different sets of special technical features.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
